

What Good Mathematicians Do

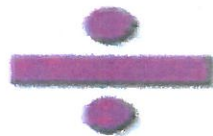

They look for patterns.

They create pictures, diagrams, and charts.

They estimate.

They ask questions.

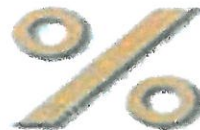

They create a plan to solve a problem.

They can explain their work.

They check their work.

They take time to do a good job.

They use math to solve everyday problems.

They seek new ways to find a solution.

They may use technology as an aid.